RARE OPPORTUNITY COMES TO PRINCETON

Princeton folk who would gain new insight into world events, learn the background and reasons for what has happened and what is to come in war-torn Europe, and, through better understanding, attune themselves to helpfulness in solution of problems which vex us all today have a rare privilege though sponsorship here by the Rotary Club of the Institute of International Understanding.

This institute, really a forum when properly classified, comprises four lectures by world famous globe trotters whose personal knowledge of the populations of that large portion of the world now gripped in the passions of war will be presented in a manner to make the ugly picture more vivid and hence, plainer to those who, depressed by conditions, would learn how they may lend aid in bringing order out of confusion.

Clarence W. Sorenson, roving reporter of Chicago, covers the world, following the trail of adventurous news, everywhere. He knows the Arab country and the Near East and will tell about the oil riches there, Arab-Jewish clashes and the fight for power. Arabic, Iran, India, Borneo, the Philippines, China and Japan are hot spots familiar to him. He is a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society of London and recently addressed the Chicago Council of Foreign Relations. He works for the New York Times and the London Illustrated News.

Allen D. Albert, second of the Institute's lecturers, also has had an interesting career as a newspaper man. He was a war correspondent in the Spanish-American war, chief editorial writer for the New York Times, publisher of the Columbus, Ohio, News and assistant to the president of the Chicago Century of Progress. His recent interest has been in causes of city growth and programs of city development. Certainly this man will have much to offer in the way of suggestions about how Princeton advantageously may change out-moded customs and thus keep step with progress in a rapidly changing world.

John A. Bekker, third of the Institute speakers, is of Dutch extraction, born in the Crimea, where now rages one of the most important battles in world history. He lived most of his younger life among the Chinese in Tibet and northern China, wandering into Korea and thence to Japan. Since coming at last to America, the Promised Land, 10 years ago, he has been graduated from Bethel College, Newton, Kans., received a master's degree at University of Kansas, and is a candidate for a doctor's degree at the University of Chicago. He served as councilor for the United States Office of Education, in which capacity he organized and conducted forums on world affairs, and has written and lectured extensively upon international relations.

Dr. No-Yong Park, last in the series, was born and reared in Manchuria, studied in China and Japan, received western education in Europe and America, finally being awarded the degree of doctor of philosophy at Harvard University. He served as lecturer on Far Eastern relations at the University of Minnesota. In college, he won the international essay contest and numerous other awards for oratory. Concerning his book "Retreat for the West", Pearl Buck wrote, "It must be required reading for the white race". His latest book is entitled "Chinaman's Chance."

From these brief sketches readers of this column perhaps will obtain some idea of the sort of four-way treat in store for them if they choose to take advantage of the feast of knowledge the Rotary Club is presenting here. It is believed serious minded adults of this community will avidly grasp the opportunity.

SOME BENEFICIAL BY-PRODUCTS OF WAR

War has been described as international waste, because of the destruction involved in men and material.

There are going to be by-products in our preparedness program that may in the end prove to be an excellent dividend payers as well as the best insurance this country has ever known.

America was startled the other day when President Roosevelt made public reports from the War Department to the effect that 50 percent of the young men drawn for military service were found to be unable to meet the far from exacting specifications for soldiers. We have always had the idea that American youth was a picture of health, athletic prowess and strength of all sorts. Yet here on the first test we find that a million youngsters are not up to standard. Some of the disabilities are severe and acute, some are trifling. After a preliminary survey it was indicated that some 200,000 of these physically unfit lads can be reconditioned within a few weeks. It might be a matter of mere attention by a dentist, a simple operation or a few doses of medicine that is required. In other cases rehabilitation might be a matter of months.

The Army naturally cannot afford to enlist invalids either present or prospective. Army routine, though it puts no impossible burden on trained soldiers, is far too strenuous for those with physical flaws. A collapse by these involves hospitalization in War Department institutions which intum demands the services of the orderlies, nurses, etc., so the plan has been adopted to have those slightly deficient treated by their own dentists, doctors under the supervision of the Army Medical Boards. The Government will pay these private practitioners for the expense involved which is calculated to be far less than what it would be if the Government itself undertook the conditioning. The final result goes further than the mere curing of the individuals directly concerned, though putting hundreds of thousands of young men back into physical shape is in itself no small national asset.

The disclosure of the huge percentage of people who, in many cases even did not know they were ailing, starts a study of health conditions that will correct this vast amount of physical deficiency.

The building of a physique is only one of the innumerable by-products of our present effort.

The buildings shot up to provide factory space for the production of guns and tanks and airplanes will for the most part house a thousand peacetime industries.

Experts, mechanical and chemical, who are now devoting their energies to making more powerful explosives, more deadly weapons and devising new materials for the construction of bombers, and purpuit planes, will in the course of their experiments, uncover a lot of things that will be of vast value to humanity in the future to which we all look forward when this war abroad and preparedness at home will have passed into history.

Johnny Graham told one about Mrs. Glenn Farmer at the Kiwanis Ladies' Night party last week. He said Mrs. F., wanting to do a little farming of her own, asked Glenn to help her start a goat herd by getting her a "buck" and a "billy".

But Doc Englehardt won the marbles when he said, in the quiz game, it was Mae West who was famous for saying "Ay tank ay go home."

Kiwanians showed they really like their ladies: There was a full house at the party, best attendance in months.

Despite bad psychology in news releases, for opening the Community Chest campaign, which told everybody the Chest needed much less money than last year, the goal MAY yet be reached if generous Princetonians will contribute according to their good impulses and their knowledge of the many demands made upon this agency every winter.

Last week an ordinance was passed by the city commissioners of Lexington regulating operation of aircraft over that place. Princeton needs such an ordinance.

New Lexington law says there shall be no acrobatic flying or exhibition flights above the city; and no flying over it at all at less than 2,000 feet. Also prohibited was "unnecessary noise" and dropping leaflets or other papers.

Only a short time ago, two little children playing in front of their homes were killed when an airplane fell on them. It didn't happen here; but it very easily might have. I remember like it was yesterday when a home-manufactured plane fell on one of Owensboro's principal streets at nearly midday. Luck saved several lives.

Princeton's airport has but a few planes; but these are flying too low over town. Something will go wrong, someday; and innocent people will be killed, needlessly.

Let's have an ordinance. Now.

Plastic pennies, to save copper, may come soon. Silver nickels, like old-time half-dimes, may be used to save copper and nickel. Calling in all outstanding nickels would save 16½ million pounds of copper and 5½ million pounds of nickel, a statistician says. War's on the way; and coming mighty fast. It will change a good many of our customs in addition to our money.

If you have been planning to build or to repair your property . . . go right ahead and get it done NOW . . . Much misunderstanding of recent regulations promulgated from Washington has been clarified by most recent advices from SPAB—the Supplies and Priorities Allocations Board, upon request of the Kentucky Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

Policy of SPAB will put sharp limits upon NEW construction but is not a STOP building order. Basic materials such as lumber, brick, stone, mortar, concrete and clay products are not scarce, not under priority control and hence, may be obtained freely for any building job whatever, the SPAB ruling stated. If your contractor or lumber dealer HAS what you need, you can get goods and do the job.

The Leader was very prosperous last week, principally due to last minute political advertising; and we are properly appreciative to all customers. Had to call on the Lyon County Herald printers for one night's work and import another printer from Marion . . . This little success has not gone to our heads; but does lend impetus to efforts to improve the Leader; which Pennyrieler steadfastly intends shall be the best community newspaper in Kentucky.

Add advice to young wives: If your cook wants a new rolling pin, give her the cash and let her buy it herself; else rumor may get started about your course-of-true-love.

A card of thanks in a Virginia newspaper:

"We thank the many friends, both white and colored, for their aid. Also the firemen for their promptness in the burning of our home."

A Laughing Matter Jesse Jones' Favorite Story

(Mr. Jones is quite aware that his story has a lot of versions, some of them worn threadbare. "But I get a kick out of it every time I tell it—or hear it," he says.)

One of the residents of a Texas village missed a horse one day, and the whole community turned out to hunt for it. Searchers were organized into parties, and literally combed the countryside.

They left the village before the hunt, assuming more trouble than help. The searchers all returned to the village square empty-handed to be greeted by the smiling half-wit. He was the horse.

Recovering from their astonishment, the villagers asked him and where he'd found the horse. The "where" he declined to tell, but he agreed to tell how he'd made the capture. "I just thought where I would find it if I were a horse," he explained. "I went to that place, and there he was."

The herd average was 376 pounds of butterfat average is more than twice as much as that of the country's average dairy cow. The highest producer in the herd, a junior 4-year-old, produced 436 pounds of butterfat and 14,110 pounds of milk in 297 days. Testing was supervised by The Holstein-Friesian Association of America, in cooperation with the Experiment Station.

Literary Guidepost

Rebecca West could have told the story of what was once Yugoslavia in half the 500,000 words she has used in "Black Lamb and Grey Falcon", but I am glad she did not. As this enormous two-volume work stands now, it contains not only the history and the pertinent fact, but the spirit. It needs a lyric poet of genius to catch a spirit in a few words and Miss West is not that. She is a writer of prose bordering on genius, and an observer of almost fanatical thoroughness. These attributes are sufficient to her needs.

Miss West spent years poking about Yugoslavia sometimes with her husband, often with a Yugoslavian whose wife was a peculiarly unfortunate German. These and other characters in the long narrative are foils to the fact which Miss West uncovers. As they move through the flashing Yugoslavian background they reflect as few other things could the swirling life and the tangled past of this strangely assorted people. The country may never again be called Yugoslavia but some of the people will remain, and one is convinced that they will remain essentially the same people Miss West took such pains to know.

Imitate The Squirrel, Say Home Economist

A really first-class squirrel always stores up lots of nuts for winter. By spring, he still is fat and energetic—so the nuts must be pretty nutritious, at that. The Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics suggests that families desiring to escape high food costs might likewise spend a little time collecting walnuts, hickory nuts, etc., to add to the winter diet. The children will like collecting them, and the whole family will enjoy eating them. They are excellent to add to the menu, especially along about frost time and through the cold weather. And they are highly nutritious, rich concentrates of much-needed food.

Woodes Rogers, first royal governor of the Bahamas, had as his chief mission the elimination of piracy from the islands. They are an almost incredible people, these Serbs Croats and Slovenes. They have been shaped by their bare mountains and fertile oases, primarily, but also by those who have tried to subjugate them, and have succeeded only in conquering them. There was Rome, many centuries ago, and then a period of glory for the Serbs, and then the Byzantine Empire flowing over the land from the East. Later Venice and Austria came from the North, and the Turks with brutal brutality came again from the East.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK
Congress Has Treasury In Dither Over That Tax On Auto Owners

(By Jack Stinnett)
Washington.—Congress has the Treasury department across a barrel and all because of a little $150,000,000 item which isn't a drop in a ten-gallon keg when you come to considering the overall billions needed to run the government and finance national defense. When the latest tax bill came out of Congress, one thing in it NOT recommended by the treasury was the $5 motor vehicle use tax. Even now that it has become law, you can't get any on-the-record discussion of it at the Treasury department.

Certain regulations concerning the tax were laid down in the law: the use of windshield stickers as certificates of payment; the jail sentence and fine provided for tax dodgers; and principally the fact that the tax should become effective February 1, with a prorated payment until the beginning of the tax year July 1.

This little joker means that the Treasury department's collectors of internal revenue will take the field February 1 to collect $2.09 from each of the 32,000,000 private and commercial automobile owners in the country—one of the neatest little problems in tax collection that the treasury ever has been faced with. If a person buys a new car or a second-hand one on which the use-tax has not been paid around the first of March, he will pay 42 cents less; and so on, until purchasers of untaxed cars on June 1 will pay just 42 cents. On July 1, the collectors will have to start all over again with the 32,000,000 and pick up $5 from each.

In this problem, there are several unknowns: No. 1 is how to find out who the automobile owners in the country are. About the only places such lists are available are in the state highway departments. In most states, it may be assumed that the state highway departments

West has no illusions about these men and women, but she loves them. It would be hard to read "Black Lamb and Grey Falcon" without arriving at the same love through the whirl of color the book throws about them.

Radio Executive Is Advisory Aid Of Sesqui-Centennial

Lexington, Nov. 6.—S. A. Cislner, head of the Kentucky Broadcaster's Association and general manager of station W G R C, Louisville, has accepted appointment to the advisory board of the Kentucky Sesquicentennial Association representing radio, it was announced here today by Judge Samuel M. Wilson, chairman of the Kentucky Sesquicentennial Commission.

The appointment was made by Harry B. Mackoy, Covington, chairman of the commission's ways and means committee.

The association is cooperating with the commission in planning celebrations in 1942, in observance of the Commonwealth's 150th anniversary of statehood.

Total exports of all aeronautical equipment to the British amounted to more than $284,000,000 during first seven months of 1941, according to Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

be two (the bill and the mailing out of the sticker) and since it probably would take twice that to get in all the willing tax payers (or more than 12,000,000 letters), the size of the clerical force to be employed upon this alone becomes apparent—and staggering.

The ideal thing, of course, would be to have state highway departments, for a fee, collect the tax when license plates are bought, but there is no provision in the law for payment of such fees and besides, Congress can't force states to be federal collection agencies and if it tried, there would be a squawk heard all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Club Plans Party And Membership Campaign Soon

The Princeton Band-Parents' Club held its regular meeting Monday night at Butler auditorium with a short concert by the beginners' band, under direction of Kendall Bryant.

The club voted to turn the problem of summer band instruction, which will enable Mr. Bryant to work 12 months each year, over to the organization's president, Clifton Pruett Sr.

The club agreed to pay two-thirds of purchase price of a U. S. Flag, Band flag and Kentucky Flag, to be purchased at a cost of $115.

A party was also planned for the club membership with Mrs. Everett Howton, Mrs. Percy Pruett and Mrs. Clyde Nuchols

Kentucky To Lose Park CCC Units

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—The National Park Service and Civilian Conservation Corps have advised Representative Vincent (D., Ky.) they are unable to comply with his request to continue operation of CCC camps in Audubon State Park, near Henderson, and in Mammoth Cave National Park.

Vincent requested reconsideration of orders closing the camps early this month because of reduced funds and curtailed activities.

Spices were so important in ancient Rome that the law exempted from military service anyone connected with the spice industry.

Club leaders said a membership campaign will be launched shortly to urge everyone interested in Butler's band to join the club. Membership fee is 50 cents a year.

Yellowjackets To Play Eleven Games

Net Schedule Is Limited By Lack Of Gymnasium

The Fredonia Yellowjacket basketball team, runner-up in the Caldwell county and district tournament last season, will play 11 more games this year. Coach Lee Reeden said Tuesday.

The schedule: No. 7, Francis; Nov. 11, Farmersville; Nov. 21, Kuttawa; Nov. 21, Salem; Dec. 2, Cadiz; Dec. 12, Eddyville; Dec. 19, Francis; Jan. 2, Cadiz; Jan. 7, Shady Grove; Dec. 16, Kuttawa; Jan. 30, Salem.

The Jackets are limited to about six games fewer than usual because of their inability to play at home, their gymnasium having been destroyed by fire early this summer.

I Shall Keep

will never know all the things I have taken this house, this shelter of business in the sun, morning, at night a home of dreams. I know it more than you think I do, its shadows and shades, its place, its more than conversation, in more than words, its what I have taken, its not expect me to turn them; the picture I see in my mind, the light where it will ever fade, the smiles in my heart. These, and more you will ever know, I shall keep.

State Jobs Open To Persons Who Can Pass Tests

Open Merit Examinations To Be Held December 13, Public Advised

Frankfort, Nov. 4.—Open competitive merit examinations for clerical and statistical positions in the State Unemployment Compensation Commission and the State Department of Welfare have been tentatively set for December 13, J. P. Glasgow, supervisor of the Merit System Committee announced today.

"These examinations are necessary to establish and supplement out present register which has been almost completely exhausted. Activity due to the defense program has depleted our registers to the point that available job openings with state agencies operating under the Merit System cannot be filled," Glasgow said.

"At present," he pointed out, "there is no register of addressing equipment operator, tabulating equipment operator, card punch operator, statistician, junior statistician, statistical clerk, and other classifications such as senior clerk stenographer, calculating machine operator, duplicating equipment operator have 3 to 5 names. Experience leads us to believe that these will be unavailable before examinations are given."

Glasgow said that there are no male clerks on the present register. The lists of clerk-typists and clerk-stenographers total less than 30 and are being rapidly depleted. Entrance salaries for the jobs for which examinations will be given, range from $90 a month for clerks to $175 for statistician.

Examinations will be held in Ashland, Covington, Bowling Green, Frankfort, Harlan, Lexington, Louisville, Murray, Owensboro, Pikeville and Somerset.

Application forms which must be postmarked not later than midnight December 1 may be obtained from the Unemployment Compensation Commission's employment offices, county school superintendents or by writing to Mr. Glasgow, Division of Personnel, Frankfort, Ky.

First Producing Oil Well On Pump In Union County

Flush Flow Estimated At 100 To 200 Barrels; Sand Struck At 1,340 Ft.

The Basin Drilling Company brought in Union County's first producing oil well late Saturday night on the John Reburn lease five miles west of Morganfield. Various estimates at from 100 to 200 barrels a day flush production the well was swabbed Monday and allowed to flow into a 210 barrel tank for a short time. Tubing and pumping equipment was placed in the well Tuesday and Wednesday, and actual pumping was expected to start today. Flush production is rated on the first 24 hours of pumping.

Two off-set wells, The Advocate learned, will be drilled on the C. A. Briscoe estate lease and on the Sloan McKinney lease with operations starting within a few days. The locations for the two off-sets have already been established.

The producing well was drilled about 125 feet from the rotary test on the same lease completed three weeks ago. Oil was found in the Mansfield sand at around 1,340 feet. Authentic information as to the depth of saturation was not available from the drillers, but in local oil circles it is estimated at a minimum of 14 feet. The acreage is under lease to Sun Oil Ohio, Snowden & McSweeney and the Basin Drilling Company.

Two additional 100-barrel storage tanks were erected on the site Wednesday. All of the acreage in the immediate area of the Reburn well is under lease to the companies making test. However, dealing in royalties is expected to be brisk on the strength of the new well.

The Reburn producer is only a mile from the site of the

CCC Offers Courses For Youth

Educational Program Widened To Nat'l Defense; Trades Are Taught

In addition of national defense training courses to the educational program of 1939 at Princeton, men who enter this camp will receive a wide variety of such to choose from.

Courses in rural defense are now open to men in camp. These are carpentry, electricity and auto-mechanics which include wiring and repairing of equipment, automobiles and trucks.

Each of these is conducted by a tradesman specially qualified in his field. Practically all of the work is experience in trades and essential to national defense.

Men who are interested in improving their common school education may enroll in classes at the eighth grade level leading to recognized graduation.

Vocational courses including, elementary photography, truck driving, cooking and surveying. As a part of this training, this instructor has a practical and each instructor has several years of experience.

The work program, supplementary organized on-the-job training provides an excellent opportunity for those interested in conservation as it applies to agriculture. Courses and work in erosion control and terracing emphasize the principle of conservation without curtailing normal safety and the Red Cross first aid are part of the training given all CCC men of this county.

Enroll in the CCC camp to try their county recreation. Katie Mae McGee, the courthouse here, must be between the 17 and 23½ years old, of employment, unmarried and in good health.

Tobacco Acreage To Remain Same

State ACP Office Announces Allotments Not Cut

Acreage allotments for burley, dark air-cured and dark fire-cured tobaccos will be the same in 1942 as in 1941 under the Agricultural Conservation Program, the state office of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration announces.

This applies to total allotments for Kentucky and to all individual allotments except where adjustments are authorized by law in cases of marketing quota violations or other special cases.

The burley allotment for Kentucky is 364,275 acres. State acreages for dark types of tobacco are: Dark air-cured, 30,780; and dark fire-cured, 33,150.

In adjusting surplus-crop acreages to allotments under the program during the past few years, Kentucky farmers now find their farms better prepared for food production in the defense program, it is pointed out.

Increases in pastures and other improvements through soil-building practices plus the additional labor made available by the reduction in tobacco production will enable farmers to grow more poultry, dairy and meat products.

In many cases, program officials believe, farmers may find it more profitable to make further reductions in tobacco production in order to produce more foods needed in the defense program. Under the regulations, tobacco growers may plant less than their allotments without losing any of these allotments for future years.

Circular Lists Ways Family May Have Home Foods

A circular called "Make the Farm Feed the Family," published by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, discusses foods that may be produced by the farm family on the farm, in this time of rising prices.

For instance, a family of five members may find a half-acre garden worth at least $250, in normal times. It may be worth much more in 1942.

A family of five requires two cows, one freshening in the spring and the other in the fall. Any surplus of milk from two cows could be made into butter or cottage cheese.

A flock of 25 hens and two roosters would meet the table needs of a family of five. With a little extra care, such a flock should produce 100 eggs or more per hen in a year, or enough to furnish an egg a day per person, several dozen to set and some to sell.

The home meat supply usually includes hogs and chickens, and sometimes sheep and beef cattle. A family of five requires 400 to 500 pounds of meat products, and may use more. The best way to have this meat is to produce it at home.

Home-produced feeds for the cows, hens and other stock should include at least two acres of pasture for the two cows, two tons of good hay for them, and 1,200 to 1,500 pounds of grains.

Army Finishing State Hospital

Institution Near Danville Will Be Ready Dec. 1

The structural work on the 17 buildings at the U. S. Army's Danville General Hospital has been completed and finishing work now being done should be completed by the first of December; a press announcement received from hospital officers said today.

Much of the institution's equipment is being received and installed and preparations are going forward to make the hospital ready for the reception of patients.

'War' Maneuvers No Joke To The Home Economists

Recruits to the army engage in "maneuvers" on a large scale, when so-called Blue and Red armies test war practices under special supervision for a limited period of time. It is a "polishing off" period, giving extra training and eliminating imperfections.

And—in a totally different way—the same thing is done for girls in home economics at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. When they are seniors they are sent to "home practice" houses (of which the university now has two) for a 6-weeks' period of highly specialized practice in the things they've learned in classrooms for four years.

They plan budgets, buy foods and other goods, keep the house not merely spotless but attractive, prepare meals and serve them, and in general show their knowledge of desirable home practices and a high type of home living. They do this under the general direction of Miss Laura Deephouse, in charge of home management studies, assisted by Miss Esther Taylor. During this period they get additional training, and at the same time show their worthiness for graduation in the home economics field.

During the past 14 years, improvements have been made in the equipment at the practice houses, and standards have been raised constantly. During that time, approximately 420 young women have received this "practice house" work, and received their degrees in home economics.

Try This Method For Roast Turkey

The usual American "turkey time" is approaching—which means anytime after the first frost. The University of Kentucky poultry section says that the turkey supply this year totals 33 million birds; that is, about one turkey for every family in America. During 1933-41, the number of turkeys raised has gone up about 10 million.

Asked for approved recipes for roasting turkeys, the home economics department of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics suggests the following:

Select a young turkey 12 to 14 pounds in weight, preferably a hen. As to stuffing, some prefer it moist and others dry; some with sage, some without. In any case, it is better to have the turkey cleaned, stuffed and trussed the day before cooking. Rub the outside generously with flour and butter, and with some salt and pepper. Place in a hot oven for 20 minutes; then, reduce the temperature to 375 degrees, and baste frequently until tender. Allow 15 to 18 minutes per pound for young turkey, and 20 to 25 minutes for a mature one.

Cut In Tobacco Payments Will Be Felt Little Here

Graham Says Reduction Will Average Less Than $5 To Each Farm

Soil conservation payments on Burley, Dark Fired and other types of tobacco produced in Kentucky, and elsewhere, will be reduced for 1942 in order to provide larger payments for wheat growers, who have been asked to reduce their plantings 10,000,000 acres, it was announced at Washington Monday.

The 1942 payments on Burley will be .7 cents a pound instead of .8 cents a pound, and on Dark Fired, 1.4 cents a pound, instead of 1.5 cents.

Acres allotments for these crops are substantially the same as for 1941, it was announced last week by AAA officials.

So light will be effect of reduced payments upon growers of Dark Fired and Burley in Caldwell county, J. F. Graham, county agent, said, it will scarcely be noted. Averaged reduction will amount to less than $5 on farm payments, Mr. Graham estimated.

"Since the reduction has no bearing whatever upon payments for soil building practices," Mr. Graham said, "it will not matter much to our agricultural people, their principal benefits coming from the soil building part of the national program."

Department officials explained the higher wheat rate also would mean lower payments for crops other than tobacco, such as corn, cotton, rice, potatoes, and peanuts, since the total amount of funds budgeted for the program in 1942 is expected to be about the same as this year, $500,000,000.

The schedule of payments for crops other than wheat and tobacco, compared with the 1941 rates, follows:

Commercial corn, 8 cents a bushel in 1942 against 9 cents in 1941; cotton, 1.25 cents a pound and 1.37 cents; rice, 3 cents a hundred pounds and 5.5 cents; peanuts, $1.45 a ton and $2.25; commercial potatoes, 2 cents and 2.3 cents.

Fredonia Hen Lays Two-In-One Egg

Perhaps thinking about skipping her task next day, a White Rock hen on the poultry farm of Mrs. Rueben Ray, near Fredonia, laid two-eggs-in-one last week. The first and outside egg was three and one-half inches long and two inches in diameter and the second, inside the larger one, was a little smaller than an average egg. Both were normal in structure except for irregularities in the shells.

Little Activity In Circuit Court

George Harper Fined For Carrying Deadly Weapon

Grand Jury of the November term of Circuit court was dismissed last Thursday and court continued this week with little activity.

Thursday, George Harper, charged with carrying concealed a deadly weapon, was fined $50 and sentenced to 10 days in jail. He pled guilty. The 10-day jail sentence was probated and Harper was disfranchised for 2 years.

There was no court Friday and Saturday's activity consisted of routine court action and several cases being set for next Friday.

Court convened again Wednesday after Tuesday's election and will probably continue the rest of the week.

Tigers Are Hosts To Sturgis Friday

Visitors Are Rated One Of State's Top Teams

Butler High School Tigers enter the arena against a strong Holmes and Heffington led Sturgis Wildcat team tomorrow night at Butler Stadium. Sturgis comes to the local field a strong favorite.

The visitors have lost one game this year, to Hopkinsville, by a 18-7 score, the first of the season, but have stem-rolled all other opposition, their last victim being Providence, a team that whipped Princeton two weeks ago. This will be the last game before Thanksgiving.

The Tigers are in fine condition for the game, Coach Sims said Wednesday, after an open date last week in preparation for the Sturgis invasion.
